About Denton

Located on the north end of the Dallas-Fort Worth metroplex in North Texas, Denton is known for its active music life and its “college town” atmosphere, serving as home to both the University of North Texas and the Texas Woman’s University. With a population of 113,383, according to the 2010 United States Census, Denton is the 27th most populous city in Texas.

A land grant led to the formation of Denton County in 1846 and the city was incorporated in 1866. Both City and County were named after pioneer and Texas militia captain John B. Denton. By 1901 the City was home to two colleges and and took the 7th spot in the fastest growing city in the country.

Denton Independent School District has been committed to providing a quality education since it was founded in 1882. The district – located about 25 miles north of Dallas and Fort Worth – encompasses 180 square miles and contains all or parts of 17 cities, communities or major developments. Although it covers a large area, Denton ISD's unique small town community environment separates it from the growing, larger suburban school districts within the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex. Denton ISD is able to offer all the programs available from larger school districts while maintaining a small community climate.
